

Tara Albritton is a Divisional Vice President/General Manager for ADP, National Account Services, which provides human capital management solutions to large enterprise clients. Prior to her current role, Tara was Vice President of Service for ADP's Major Account business, where she was Executive Sponsor for deploying a national sustainable service model. Tara has held various roles for over 21 years with ADP, building and scaling organizations, driving growth and transformative change through collaboration, coaching and empowering teams to deliver outstanding results.

Tara believes in the vision and wisdom of Martin Luther King, Jr., who said, "We all are more alike than we are different." She is passionate about people and helping them shine. Tara is President of ADP's Cultivate Business Resource Group (BRG) and an Executive Sponsor for ADP's local Pride BRG, representing ADP's Black and LGBTQ communities respectively, and their allies.

Tara supports communities through contributions and participating in charities such as, Dress for Success, God's Love We Deliver and Junior Achievement. Tara and her wife, Amanda, are Morristown residents.