

Danielle Ferland has been acting professionally since age 10. She was in the Original Broadway Cast of Sunday in the Park with George and Into the Woods (Little Red), both by the late Stephen Sondheim. Other credits include All My Sons (Broadway), Tartuffe (The Public Theatre), and work in regional theaters around the country including Long Wharf (New Haven Connecticut), Baltimore Center Stage, the Huntington (Boston), and The Old Globe (San Diego). She most recently appeared Off-Broadway in The Light Is On. Danielle (she/her) recently wrote and performed her debut solo show Sing for Your Ghosts at The Green Room 42./tv credits include Radio Days, Mighty Aphrodite, Blue Bloods (CBS), Orange is the New Black (Netflix), and the major motion picture Tick Tick Boom (directed by Lin-Manuel Miranda) in theaters and on Netflix.

In addition to performing, Ms. Ferland also has extensive teaching experience. She has worked extensively at Boston Children's as a teacher, and has taught Master classes at high schools, colleges and theater programs throughout the northeast. We are thrilled to have her as a regular MPAC Teaching Artist.